Disabled Veteran Opens Internet Café in Vista: Continues to serve the people, despite the loss of two limbs.

VISTA, Ca. - November. 6, 2006 – Computer-Essence, Inc., (www.Computer-Essence.com), has opened its first Internet Café in North Vista. The Grand Opening and ribbon cutting ceremony will be on Friday November 10th between 2:00pm and 2:30pm. The Mayor of Vista, the Honorable Mr. Morris Vance is scheduled to attend the event, which further strengthens his commitment to improving the community.

The company's vision is to serve the portion of the community which is underdeveloped in the area of computing and Internet resources, and do so at reasonable prices. Services include all the essential computing needs, such as word processors, spreadsheet and presentation programs, along with Internet browsers and the standard chat programs. Special times for school children in need of some computer time to do their homework is also available.

Primary owner & Chairman of the Board, Gary Taylor said, "I sincerely want to help the people that want to contribute to society but are lacking the resources. I want to make those resources available. It's a really tough job constantly maintaining the computer equipment with the limited use of my mangled arm and prosthetic leg, but I think it's worth the effort..."

About Computer-Essence, Inc.

The company is the brainchild of disabled veteran Gary Taylor, with help and moral support from Alan Cabrera, Isaac Saldana and Tom Watson. Taylor spent over three years creating, developing, testing and refining the unique Internet café system and ISP services using open source software.
